

IHAMBA

A film about Batwa experiences as conservation refugees

JOIN US TO HEAR COMMUNITY VOICES IN A BATWA-LED FILM ABOUT RESILIENCE.

IHAMBA is a documentary film about the Batwa of Kanungu who were evicted from their ancestral forest in the name of conservation. Through personal stories, the film reveals the pain of losing access to sacred places, traditional foods, and cultural practices—but also the strength and resilience of Batwa communities. From elders to youth, the film shows how the forest remains central to Batwa identity and wellbeing. The goal of this film is to share Batwa voices for various audiences within and outside of Uganda.

Wednesday, May 14
2pm-4pm

LOCATION:

GIS/Remote Sensing Lab,
Department of Geography,
Geo-informatics and Climatic
Sciences, COCIS Block A, Level 1

If you are interested to learn more, reach out to David Borish:

david@cloudberry.cc